BodyHacking Con will play host to some rather notable speakers and events. Read below for relevant information.

E-Nable Hand-A-Thon

We're partnering with Tech Shop and E-NABLE volunteers to bring you another Hand-a-Thon in 2017. Bring your family to The Hub Saturday and Sunday and help put together some prosthetic hands for a child in need. Last year we assembled over 80 3D printed prosthetic hands & we want to beat that in 2017.

The Hand-A-Thon will take place in The Hub, located in the Austin Convention Center, on Saturday & Sunday.

Featured Speakers
We have put together a growing list of dynamic speakers who are influential in the BodyHacking & Transhumanist community. While this is not the complete list (which can be found at bodyhackingcon.com/speakers) see some of the more notable names below.

Cory Doctorow

Cory Doctorow (craphound.com) is a science fiction author, activist, journalist and blogger — the co-editor of Boing Boing (boingboing.net) and the author of the YA graphic novel IN REAL LIFE, the nonfiction business book INFORMATION DOESN'T WANT TO BE FREE, and young adult novels like HOMELAND, PIRATE CINEMA and LITTLE BROTHER and novels for adults like RAPTURE OF THE NERDS and MAKERS. He works for the Electronic Frontier Foundation and co-founded the UK Open Rights Group. Born in Toronto, Canada, he now lives in Los Angeles.

Moon Ribas

Moon Ribas (May 24th, 1985) is a Catalan contemporary choreographer and the co-founder of the Cyborg Foundation, an international organization that aims to help people become cyborgs, defend cyborg rights and promote cyborgism as an artistic and social movement. Moon graduated in Choreography at Dartington College of Arts (England), and studied at Theatreschool of Amsterdam SNDO (School for New Dance Development). Since 2007 Moon has been experimenting with different cybernetics devices that allow her to perceive movement in a deeper way. Moon's main research consists in developing the seismic sense, perceiving the movement of real-time earthquakes all around the world, small as 1 in Richter scale. Moon then translates this new sense on stage, her main piece is called Waiting for Earthquakes, a piece where she stands waiting for an earthquake to take place, when this happen she moves according to the intensity of the earthquake, so if there are no earthquakes there will be no dance. Ribas has performed and given talks in several venues and festivals such as TedxMunich (Germany), TedxMuscat (Oman), Campus Party London (UK), Fierce Fest (UK) or TNT (Festival of New Trends, Spain).

Jason Barnes

Jason Barnes amputee/musician/actor. After a work accident that resulted in amputation of his right hand, Jason has been inspired to continue his career in music and develop tech and prosthetics to bring life to his performances. He is involved in various projects including Shimon Robot and the Cyborg Drummer project, and CYBRNETX, a producer DJ duo that focuses on providing a  great performance while spreading awareness about transhumanism.
